

Beyond Assignment

Three dedicated female photojournalists covering Mexico, Israel and South Africa demonstrate the commitment required to access insular communities and report on complex, underexposed and often uncomfortable issues. Their three journeys dramatize the fervent curiosity and determination needed to perform difficult and often dangerous jobs as visual storytellers. BEYOND ASSIGNMENT examines the artistic and ethical responsibilities inherent in capturing vital subject matter and the subsequent emotional cost to journalists and their subjects.